

Daiyaan Halim

Daiyaan is a Researcher at the Centre for Environmental Rights (CER) in the Corporate Accountability and Transparency Programme. He has worked as a macro-economic, trade and investment analyst and consultant, and is an admitted attorney. He holds a BA LLB from the University of Johannesburg and has completed an LLM in International Economic Law at Wits University. His masters research report considered the capacity of sustainable foreign direct investment to support development and reduce inequality. He has also published on the role of the Constitution in South Africa's foreign policy. Broadly, his research focuses on sustained, sustainable, and equitable development through trade, investment, and the realisation of socio-economic and environmental rights.